ۛ hū, called های hū-i-hawwaz and مدوره mudawwara, the twenty-seventh letter of the Arabic and thirty-first of the Persian alphabet, corresponds to ह in Sanskrit. It is one of the guttural letters, having the sound of the English h. When it occurs at the end of a word, it is either perceptible, which is called های hā-i-zāhir or -zālī, or

-malfūzī) as in بادشاه bādshāh, A king ; or imperceptible مختفی یا مکتوبی (-mukhtafī or -maktūbī), as in بهانه bahāna, A pretence, به ba, With, &c. where it merely conveys the sound of fat'ha. In the formation of the plural with ها the های hāi of the singular is preserved ; as راهها rāh-hā, Roads ; اندوها andoh-hā, Griets, &c. whereas the مختفی mukhtafī disappears ; as, جامها jāma-hā, Robes. بندها banda-hā, Slaves, &c. When it occurs at the end of Arabic words, it is generally written with two points over it, thus ه, and is pronounced as t : and, if such words are introduced into Persian, Turkish, or Hindī composition, they are either written with ت or the h is written without the points and is مختفی or imperceptible in the pronunciation ; as هدایت hidāyat, or هدایه hidāya, The act of guiding.

When used to denote a number, it stands for five : and, in almanacks it may represent Thursday, or Virgo among the signs of the zodiack.

Its permutations are, 1. into ماج māj, for ماه māh, The moon ; فیروزج fīrozaj, for فیروزه fīroza, A turquoise. 2. Into حیز hiz, for هیز hiz, An hermaphrodite. 3. Into فستق fistak, for پسته pista, A pistachio nut. 4. Into آمادس āmādas, for آماده āmāda, Prepared. 5. Into امیان amyān, for همیان hamyān, A purse ; هیچ ech, for هیچ hech, Nothing.

It is substituted 1. for هاک hāk, for خاک khāk, Earth. 2. for آماه āmāh, for آماس āmās, Swelling.

At the ends of words in verse, it often suffers apocope for the sake of the measure ; as گوا gawā, for گواه gawāh, A witness ; گیا giyā, for گیاه giyāh, Grass. Thus Sa'dī :

گوا کرد برخود خدا و رسول
که دیگر نگردم بگرد فصول

Gawā kard bar khud khudā o rasūl ; ki dīgar na gardam ba gird-i-fazūl. He took God and the prophet to witness, that he would never again be guilty of excess. Some words are written indifferently with ه or ا as خاره khāra or خارا khārā, A hard stone.

At the end of words its use may be, 1. To form participles of Persian verbs: either active, when it is added to the third person plural of the aorist; as گوینده goyanda, from گویند goyand: or passive, when it is affixed to the third person singular of the preterite; as گفته gufta, from گفت guft.

2. (تسمیه tasmiya) When one thing receives a name from its resemblance to another, it is formed by the addition of s to its prototype; as دندان dandāna, The teeth of a saw, a niched battlement, &c. from دندان dandān, A tooth; زبان zabāna, The flame of a candle, the tongue of a balance, &c. from زبان zabān, A tongue.

3. (مقداریه miqdār-īya) To express, as an individual space of time, any multiple of a given space; as دوماه do-māh-a, A space of two months, سه ساله si-sāl-a, A space of three years, هفته haft-a, A space of seven days, or a week, &c.

4. (تشبیه tashbih) Annexed to the plural of nouns, to express resemblance, or the adverbial sense conveyed by the English termination ly; as, دوستانه dostāna, Friendly, from دوستان dostān, Friends; مردانه mar-dāna, Manly, from مردان mardān, Men, &c.

5. (تانیث tāniṣ) Annexed to Arabic nouns to express their feminines; as, ملکه malika, A queen, from ملک malik, A king; معشوقه mā'shūka, A mistress, from معشوق mā'shūk, Beloved.

6. (ضمیر zamīr) The affixed pronoun of the third person annexed to Arabic nouns; as, لطفه luṭfu-hu, His kindness, &c.

7. Redundant; as, قباہ qabāh, for قبا qabā, A robe, &c.

8. hi (हि in Braj) A termination denoting the oblique case, to, for.

s. हि hi, particle affixed, Very, &c. see هي hi.

s. हा हा hā, interj. Ah! alas! oh! ah!

8. हा ha, interj. Just so! very well! yes indeed! (Harris).

ي

ي yā, called ياي حطي yā-i-hutti, or ياي مشات تحتاني yā-i-muṣannāt-i-taḥtūnī, the twenty-eighth letter of the Arabic and thirty-second of the Persian alphabet, corresponds to य in Sanskrit. When appropriated to denote a number, it stands for ten. In almanacks it represents Jupiter, or the sign Aquarius.

It is like ı and ۛ one of the hurūf-i-illat, or weak letters, being like the English y sometimes a consonant and sometimes a vowel. In the former case, it is one of the palatal letters, sounding like y in youth. In Sanskrit, the य may be pronounced either y or j; and in words derived from that language ज is generally substituted for य. When ي sūkin or quiescent is preceded immediately by a consonant sounded with kasr, they denote the long vowels ī or e; and, when by one pronounced with fat'ha, the diphthong ai. If the first sound is denoted, the ي is called ياي معروف yā-i-ma'rūf; if the second, ياي مجهول yā-i-maj'hūl; and, if the third, ياي ساکن ما قبل مفتوح yā-i-sākin mā qabl maftūh. It is considered homogeneous with kasr; and a quiescent ي never follows the vowel zamm. After a madda, or simple long vowel, a ي is quite silent or very nearly so; as, in خوي khū, The disposition, جاي jā, A place: and, in these cases it is often omitted in writing. It is changed in Arabic (1) into hamza, as بائع bā'i for بايع bāyī, A seller: (2) into alif; as باع bā, for بيع bayaā, He sold: (3) into wāw as طوبى tūbā, Agreeable, for طيبى ṭibī: (4) into ta as ايتسر ittasara, yattasiru, for ايتسر ييتسر ittasara, yattasiru, He played with dice, he may play with dice: (5) into ja as فقيم fukaimaj, for فقيمى fukaimī, One of the tribe فقيم fukaim.

It is sometimes substituted for ā as یرمغان yarma-ghūn, for ارمغان armaghān, A present; and for s as شاہگان shāyagān, for شاهگان shāhgān, Like a king. When in Persian the substantive verb am or its inflexions are combined with the words ki, chi, or na, the s is often rejected, and the ā changed into y, making کيست kīst, چیست chīst, نیست nest, کیم kiyam, چه است chē ast, for کی است ki ast, Who is it? چه است chē ast, What is it? نه است na ast, It is not; کی ام ki am, Who am I? نه ام na am, I am not.

In the inflection of Persian verbs, s of the preterite is changed into y to form the aorist; as, آراید ārāyad, from آراست ārāst, He adorned. It is sometimes added; as, نویسد nawisad, from نوشت nawisht; and, sometimes y of the preterite is thrown out in the aorist; as, رسد rasad, from رسید rasid. Inserted before the affixed pronoun of the singular number, it forms the plural; as, آمدم āmadem, from آمدم āmadem.

The yā-i-ma'rūf may be,

- (1) nisbat-i (نسبتی) To express relation or connexion; as هندی hind-i, Belonging to India; فارسی fārs-i, Belonging to Persia, &c.
- (2) khutāb-i (خطابی) The affixed pronoun of the second person singular; as گفתי guft-i, Thou spokest; عالمی ālim-i, Thou art wise. This after s is denoted by hamza; as آمد āmada-i, Thou art come.

3. yā-i-maṣḍar (ياي مصدر) To form the verbal or abstract noun; as زربخشی zar-bakhsh-i, The act of bestowing gold; نیکی nek-i, Goodness; بدی bad-i, Badness, &c.
4. liyākat (لياقات) To denote fitness; as کشتنی kush-tan-i, Deserving of death; سوختنی sokhtan-i, Fit to be burned, &c.
5. mutakallim or alkāb-i (یا القابی) To denote the pronoun of the first person singular; as روحی rūh-i, My soul; ربی rabb-i, My protector; برخورداری barkhurdār-i, My son, &c.
6. fā'il (فاعل) Affixed to nouns, to signify an actor or agent; as جنگی jang-i, A warrior; حکمتی hikmat-i, A man of science, &c. This is used in Hindūstānī also; as بکواسی bakwās-i, A great talker; جنبالی janjāl-i, A molester.
7. maf'ul (مفعول) Also affixed to nouns to point out the object of some act; as سندی sanad-i, Established by authority; لعنتی la'nat-i, Cursed; دستخطی dast-khattī, Signed, &c.
8. mushābih (مشابه) To denote similitude or assumption of a character: as, in these lines of Nizāmī:

زاغ بفر تو همای کند
سر که رسد پیش تو پای کند

Zāgh ba farr-i-to humā-i kunad; sar ki rasad pesh-i-to pā-i kunad. The crow through thy glory equals the humā; the head that approaches thee is debased as a foot.

9. (In Hindūstānī, from Sans. वै, it may be for taḥṣīs) taḥṣīs (تخصیص) Emphatical, signifying, very, only, exactly, the, &c. as اسی کو us-i ko, To him in particular or expressly: and, in Dakhnī, چ may be subjoined to ي for this purpose; as بھوتیچ bhot-ich, Much indeed.
10. In Hindūstānī, too, it may be the termination of a diminutive noun applied to some inanimate object; as in ہندی handī, گہری gharī.

And, the yā-i-maj'hūl may be

1. (تَنكِير يا وحدت) tankir or waḥdat) To signify unity, or to shew that the prefixed noun is used in an indefinite sense; as مردی mard-e, A man, or one man, &c. This is sometimes applied to denote excess; as, in this expression of Hāfiz, عشق آفتی است ishk āfat-e ast, Love is one (i. e. a very great) mischief. Sometimes, on the other hand, it signifies diminution or contempt; as,

هست خاکی که بآبی نخرد طوفان را

Hast khāk-e ki ba āb-e nakharad tūfān-rā. There is a little earth which esteems the universal deluge less than the smallest drop of water.

2. (صفت ṣifat) Affixed to nouns, to supply the place of the demonstrative pronoun that; and it has necessarily in the same sentence the relative که ki, either closely attached or at some distance. Thus Kāim says:

دمیکه با قد دلجوی تو نگاه کنم
ز پا درافتم و بی اختیار آه کنم

Dam-e ki bā qad-i-dil-jū-i-to nigāh kunam; zi pā dar uftam o be ikhtiyār āh kunam. That instant when I look upon thy heart-alluring form, I lose my stability, and lament beyond measure.

3. (استمراری) istimrārī, Affixed to the preterites of verbs, to convey the idea of perpetuity, or continued action. With the optative and conditional conjunction کاش kāsh, and اگر agar, it comes in place of می me of the imperfect; as, in these lines of Shaikh Auḥadu-d-dīn.

گرمونس و همدمی دمی یافتمی
زو چاره و مرهمی همی یافتمی
از آتش دل سوختمی سر تا پا
در دیده اگر نمی یافتمی

Gar mūnis o ham-dam-e dam-e yāftam-e; zo chāra o marham-e hame yāftam-e; az ātash-i-dil sokhtam-e sar tā pā; dar dīda agar nam-e name yāftam-e. If I had for a short time possessed an affectionate friend, I should have found in him a remedy. I should have been consumed from head to foot in the fire of my heart, if I had not found moisture in my eyes. In the second and fourth instances above, the final ی appears redundant, as the می and همی are also preserved. Maulavī Rūm says:

نقره و زر گر نه بودندی نهان
پرورش کی یافتندی زیرکان

Nukra o zar gar na būdande nihān: parwarish kai yāftande zīrakān? If silver and gold were not concealed, how would the wise obtain the means of subsistence?

4. (زاید zā'id) Redundant after a quiescent ا as بکشی bukshā-e for بکشا bukshā, Open thou. Affixed to a word in the Braj dialect, the ی pronounced ai may be an emphatic affix like the yā-i-mā'rūf before noticed, meaning very, &c.

In addition may be noticed یای اضافتی yā'i iṣāfat-i, used when two Persian nouns are constructed together, the first of which ends in ا or و; so هوای خوب hawā-i-khūb; آبروی شما ābrū-i-shumā.

- پ. یا yā, 1. conj. Or. 2. A vocative particle, O! Oh! یا قسمت yā kismat, Oh destiny! An exclamation of one who in distress resigns himself to the will of God.
